

Dear Heavenly Father-

It's hard for many right now because they are hurting. They can't feel the joy and happiness of this Holiday season. We are to be thankful for the gift of your Son, but many are just feeling empty.

You promise to be near the brokenhearted and help them with their wounds. Their wounds are deep and the pain is great.

God, they can't see your way and their eyes keep losing focus on you.

Give them peace, and lead them to comfort. Help them find refreshment for their souls. Send to them gifts of your love and let them feel hope in their hearts. Bind up their wounds and decrease their pain.

Be with them this Holiday season! In your name,
Amen

unmaskingthemess.com